Stockholm, April 11.

COUNT Gyllenborg continues ſtill dangerouſly ill, and is given over by his Phyſicians.

Vienna, April 23, N. S. The laſt Letters from Italy mention, that Prince Lichtenſtein had joined General Brown from Codogno, and taken upon himſelf the Command of the Army on the 16th Inſtant, N. S.; that the Garriſon of Parma conſiſted of 6000 of the beſt Spaniſh and Neapolitan Troops; that, according to the Reports of his Spies and Deſerters, the Place began to want Proviſions; that the Auſtrian Artillery, conſiſting of 30 Pieces of Cannon and Mortars, was not arrived; that it was thought M. de Gages would ſtill attempt to ſave ſo conſiderable a Garriſon, and as that could not be done without a Battle, Prince Lichtenſtein had choſen a Poſt at a little Diſtance from the Taro, where he might form his Army, and receive the Enemy in Front, on whatever Side he might be attacked.

Hague, May 3, N. S. The Letters to Day from Bruſſels bring Advice that the French King was expected there as To-morrow. The Foreign Miniſters have Liſle aſſign'd them for their Reſidence for the preſent. Nine Thouſand Men were the Saturday before detached from the Garriſon of Bruſſels to mark out a Camp upon the Plain of Fernaval, which extends from the Canal to the Cauſey of Louvain. The ſame Day 1800 Graſſins arrived there; and the French Cavalry were preparing to encamp in the Plain of Laeken. Marſhal Saxe, accompanied by the Duke de Penthievre, and the Count de Clermont Gallerande, arrived upon the 1ſt Inſtant, and the Great Artillery from Aloſt was expected upon the 2d. The Allied Army was very advantagiouſly encamped behind the Dyle.

Briſtol, April 21. This Afternoon arrived here the Alexander Privateer, with the Solebay Man of War, Captain Bury late Commander, and two ſmall Homeward bound Martinico Veſſels, which laſt ſhe took off Port Louis. The Solebay had paſſed by the Alexander, and was come to an Anchor in St. Martin's Road under a ſmall Fort, when 50 Men of the Crew of the Alexander boarded her, cut her Cables, and brought her out to Sea. The Alexander is a Ship of about 200 Tons, 20 Guns ſix Pounders, and 150 Men. The Solebay had 22 nine Pounders, and 230 Men, who were ſtruck with ſuch a Pannick upon being ſo reſolutely boarded by the 50 Men abovementioned, that they all run under Deck.

Admiralty-Office, April 26.

Vice-Admiral Martin was forced to put into Plymouth on the 22d Inſtant, with Part of his Squadron, which has ſuffer'd by bad Weather, and has left the Remainder at Sea. He has brought in with him a French Privateer of 18 Guns, and 140 Men, call'd Le Chaſſeur, taken by the Yarmouth.

The Defiance, commanded by Captain Powlett, has taken, and ſent into Plymouth, a French Man of War, call'd the Ambuſcade, of 40 Guns, and 365 Men: The Engagement was on the 21ſt, and laſted two Hours, in which the Ambuſcade had 26 Men kill'd and wounded; and the Defiance had only one Man kill'd and three wounded. She is a new Ship, and longer by the Keel, and as broad on the Deck as the Defiance.

Whitehall, April 26.

A Courier is arrived this Afternoon from his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland, with the Particulars of the Action of the 16th Inſtant, which being come in too late to be inſerted in the preſent Gazette, will be publiſhed To-morrow Morning.

Printed by E. Owen, in Amen-Corner. 1746.

Whitehall, April 26, 1746.

This Afternoon a Meſſenger arrived from the Duke of Cumberland, with the following Particulars of the Victory obtained by his Royal Highneſs over the Rebels, on Wedneſday the 16th Inſtant near Culloden.

Publiſhed by Authority.

Inverneſs, April 18.

ON Tueſday the 15th the Rebels burnt Fort Auguſtus, which convinced us of their Reſolution to ſtand an Engagement with the King's Troops. We gave our Men a Day's Halt at Nairn, and on the 16th marched from thence, between Four and Five, in four Columns. The three Lines of Foot (reckoning the Reſerve for one) were broken into three from the Right, which made the three Columns equal, and each of five Battalions. The Artillery and Baggage followed the firſt Column upon the Right, and the Cavalry made the fourth Column on the Left.

After we had marched about eight Miles, our advanced Guard, compoſed of about forty of Kingſton's, and the Highlanders led by the Quarter-Maſter-General, perceived the Rebels at ſome Diſtance making a Motion towards us on the Left, upon which we immediately formed; but, finding the Rebels were ſtill a good Way from us, and that the whole Body did not come forward, we put ourſelves again upon our March in our former Poſture, and continued it to within a Mile of them, where we again formed in the ſame Order as before. After reconnoitring their Situation, we found them poſted behind ſome old Walls and Huts, in a Line with Culloden Houſe. As we thought our Right entirely ſecure, General Hawley and General Bland went to the Left with the two Regiments of Dragoons, to endeavour to fall upon the right Flank of the Rebels, and Kingſton's Horſe was ordered to the Reſerve. The ten Pieces of Cannon were diſpoſed, two in each of the Intervals of the firſt Line, and all our Highlanders (except about one Hundred and Forty which were upon the Left with General Hawley, and who behaved extremely well) were left to guard the Baggage.

When we were advanced within 500 Yards of the Rebels, we found the Moraſs upon our Right was ended, which left our right Flank quite uncovered to them; His Royal Highneſs thereupon immediately order'd Kingſton's Horſe from the Reſerve, and a little Squadron of about Sixty of Cobham's which had been patrolling, to cover our Flank; and Pulteney's Regiment was order'd from the Reſerve to the Right of the Royals.

We ſpent above half an Hour after that, trying which ſhould gain the Flank of the other; and His Royal Highneſs having ſent Lord Bury forward within a Hundred Yards of the Rebels, to reconnoitre ſomewhat that appeared like a Battery to us, they thereupon began firing their Cannon, which was extremely ill ſerv'd and ill pointed: Ours immediately anſwer'd them, which began their Confuſion. They then came running on in their wild Manner; and upon the Right, where His Royal Highneſs had placed himſelf, imagining the greateſt Puſh would be there, they came down three ſeveral Times within a Hundred Yards of our Men, firing their Piſtols and brandiſhing their Swords; but the Royals and Pulteney's hardly took their Firelocks from their Shoulders, ſo that after thoſe faint Attempts they made off; and the little Squadrons on our Right were ſent to purſue them. General Hawley had, by the Help of our Highlanders, beat down two little Stone Walls, and came in upon the right Flank of their ſecond Line.

As their whole firſt Line came down to attack at once, their right ſomewhat out flanked Barrel's Regiment, which was our Left, and the greateſt Part of the little Loſs we ſuſtained, was there; but Bligh's and Sempil's giving a Fire upon thoſe who had out flanked Barrel's, ſoon repu ſed them, and Barrel's Regiment and the Left of Monroe's fairly beat them with their Bayonets: There was ſcarce a Soldier or Officer of Barrel's, and of that Part of Monroe's which engaged, who did not kill one or two Men each with their Bayonets and Spontoons.

The Cavalry, which had charged from the Right and Left, met in the Center, except two Squadrons of Dragoons, which we miſſed, and they were gone in Purſuit of the Runaways: Lord Ancram was order'd to purſue with the Horſe as far as he could; and did it with ſo good Effect, that a very conſiderable Number was killed in the Purſuit.

As we were in our March to Inverneſs, and were near arrived there, Major General Bland ſent the annexed Papers, which he received from the French Officers and Soldiers ſurrendring themſelves Priſoners, to his Royal Highneſs. Major General Bland had alſo made great Slaughter, and took about 50 French Officers and Soldiers Priſoners, in his Purſuit.

By

By the beſt Calculation that can be made, 'tis thought the Rebels loſt 2000 Men upon the Field of Battle, and in the Purſuit. We have here 222 French, and 326 Rebel Priſoners, as will appear by Liſts hereunto annexed. Lieutenant Colonel Howard killed an Officer, who appeared to be Lord Strathallan, by the Seal, and different Commiſſions from the Pretender found in his Pocket.

'Tis ſaid Lord Perth, Lord Nairn, Lochiel, Keppock, and Appin Stuart, are alſo killed. All their Artillery and Ammunition, of which a Liſt is alſo annexed, were taken, as well as the Pretender's and all their Baggage. There were alſo 12 Colours taken.

All the Generals, Officers, and Soldiers, did their utmoſt in his Majeſty's Service, and ſhewed the greateſt Zeal and Bravery on this Occaſion.

The Pretender's Son, it is ſaid, lay at Lord Lovat's Houſe at Aird, the Night after the Action. Brigadier Mordaunt is detached with 900 Volunteers this Morning into the Frazier's Country, to attack all the Rebels he may find there. Lord Sutherland's and Lord Reay's People continue to exert themſelves, and have taken upwards of 100 Rebels, who are ſent for; and there is great Reaſon to believe Lord Cromarty, and his Son, are alſo taken. The Monro's have kill'd Fifty of the Rebels in their Flight. As it is not known where the greateſt Bodies of them are, or which Way they have taken in their Flight, his Royal Highneſs has not yet determined which Way to march. On the 17th, as his Royal Highneſs was at Dinner, three Officers, and about ſixteen of Fitz James's Regiment, who were mounted, came and ſurrender'd themſelves Priſoners.

The kill'd, wounded, and miſſing of the King's Troops, (as by the annex'd Liſt,) amount to above 300.

The French Officers will be all ſent to Carliſle, till his Majeſty's Pleaſure ſhall be known.

The Rebels, by their own Accounts, make their Loſs greater by two Thouſand than we have ſtated it. Four of their principal Ladies are in Cuſtody, viz. Lady Ogilvie, Lady Kinloch, Lady Gordon, and the Laird of M'Intoſh's Wife. Major Grant, the Governor of Inverneſs, is retaken; and the Generals Hawley, Lord Albermarle, Huske and Bland, have Orders to enquire into the Reaſons for his Surrendring of Fort George.

P. S. Lord Cromarty, Lord M'Cleod his Son, with other Priſoners, according to the incloſed Liſt, are juſt brought in from Sutherland by the Hound Sloop, which his Royal Highneſs had ſent for them, and they are juſt now Landing.
